Events may impact bill payment deliveries

Several state and local governments have declared emergency situations in the coastal areas of Texas and Louisiana, and in parts of California. Residents are being evacuated in parts of Texas and Louisiana because of Hurricane Laura, and in regions in California because of continuing wildfires.

The United States Postal Service (USPS) has stated that mandatory evacuations have affected their operations.

While our electronic bill payments will process as scheduled, some payees may not have personnel in their offices. Mail delivery may be suspended in affected regions, which could impact delivery of check payments.
